Helpful Information

The word Christadelphian means "brethren in Christ".

There are two Christadelphian congregations in Brantford.

There are over 50,000 Christadelphians throughout the world.

An exhortation is a weekly reflection on the scriptures. As we are a lay community, a different brother provides the message of encouragement each week.

Ecclesia is a term that comes from the Greek language and means "called out". It refers to a group of believers who meet together.

There are two washrooms down the stairs on the lower level and a handicap washroom on the main floor at the back of the building.

There are rooms for nursing mothers and parents with young children on the lower level. They are equipped with audio and video. Please speak to a member if you need assistance.

Following the service, we invite you to stay and visit. If you have any questions about our congregation or today's service, feel free to ask any member.

We invite you to attend any or all of our weekly activities.
